KEYMACRO is a feature-rich application that uses TIP MACRO files to create keyboard macros. Using KEYMACRO, you can create macros by keystrokes or by keystroke combinations. KEYMACRO lets you make it your own and helps you create one-key shortcuts for your favorite applications. When you press the shortcut key, a dialog box appears where you can enter text. Macros can perform different actions, such as open a Web page, launch an application, launch a script file, create a new work file, create a new contact, copy text, paste text, send an e-mail, launch a program, and create a new file. There are two types of macros: Automated macros and triggered macros. A) Automated Macros: Automated macros are activated by pressing a shortcut key. B) Triggered Macros: Triggered macros are activated when the function you set them to is triggered. You can configure your macros with a simple keyboard-driven interface, as well as define repeating or one-time events. You can add, edit, and delete macros, as well as change their hotkeys, action, and trigger options. TOPIC MACRO Description: TOPIC MACRO is a feature-rich application that lets you create, edit, and manage topic macros for a specific topic. Using TOPIC MACRO, you can create topic-related macros for your favorite applications. Topic-related macros can open Web pages, send e-mails, launch a script file, launch an application, search for and open a file, or create a new work file. TOPIC MACRO lets you create macros that perform different actions for each topic. For example, you can create a macro that opens your e-mail client whenever you receive a new e-mail, a script that automatically runs a program whenever a specific file is opened, a macro that searches the Web for a specific Web page and opens it whenever you open the program, a macro that opens a new work file whenever you launch an application, and a macro that automatically launches an application whenever a file with a certain topic is opened. TOPIC MACRO lets you configure macros to use a keyboard-driven interface, as well as define repeating or one-time events.
